Problems addressed by the DANRISS Project

Identified need for improving the efficiency in the cross-border coordination context between the two responsible administrations EAMA and RNA:

- Lack of information exchange between EAMA and RNA on the performed inspections to ships visiting ports in the area of inland waterways and ships in the shipping line Romania-Bulgaria;
- Lack of communication between the two public institutions regarding the Notices related to changes in navigational conditions and special temporary regulations.

Project Implementation

The project implementation is structured in seven Activities:

- Activity 1 "Project preparation"
- Activity 2 "Project management"
- Activity 3 "Information and publicity"

*General
Implementation
Activities*

Core Project Activities:

- Activity 4 "Development of Framework Agreement on the inspections performed under the river supervision regime in the common Bulgarian-Romanian stretch of the Danube river"
- Activity 5 "Development of specific rules for the navigation in the common Bulgarian - Romanian stretch of the Danube river"
- Activity 6 "Supply of Integrated System for Ships Inspection - electronic database software package and equipment"
- Activity 7 "Development of risk assessment methodology for river supervision inspections"

Activity 4

Development of Framework Agreement on the inspections performed under the river supervision regime in the common BG -RO stretch of the Danube River

Main goal of the Activity is to provide a legal framework for optimal harmonized supervision in the field of navigation in the common Bulgarian-Romanian stretch of the Danube river.

Activity 4

Present situation addressed by Activity 4

- There are no developed common procedures between the two responsible national authorities for the inspections performed under the river supervision regime in the common Bulgarian-Romanian stretch of the Danube river.
- Each performed inspection requires allocation of human resources, financial resources and time. The competent authorities on both sides of the river often duplicate efforts for obtaining the same information.
- All of the above also reflects on the business, requiring additional time and resources, due to the fact that its representatives are subjected to same procedures twice.

Tasks carried out under Activity 4:

- Performed analysis of international regulations and corresponding national legislation
- Examined terms and conditions under which the competent authorities of both countries exercise control over shipping
- Discussed possibilities to carry out joint actions in emergency incidents
- Discussed possibilities to conduct joint actions in events of oil spill
- The obtained results were analyzed, conclusions were formed and the text of the Agreement was drafted

Activity 5

Development of specific rules for the navigation in the common Bulgarian - Romanian stretch of the Danube river

For the purpose of the Activity, the two partners carried out review of:

- The legislation, regulating international and domestic navigation;
- The respective national legislation;
- The Specific/local rules on the safety of navigation applied in the section between river km 845.65 to km 374.1

As a result, Specific rules for the navigation in the common Bulgarian - Romanian stretch of the Danube river were drafted under the project.

Activity 5

The expected approval at national level of the prepared document, will provide harmonization between the partnering institutions in the context of:

- ✓ Increasing the level of security of navigation;
- ✓ Synchronization and enhancement of the navigation signaling;
- ✓ Alignment of control, inspection and procedures upon arrival/departure of ships;
- ✓ Environmental protection;
- ✓ Exchange of data between the two administrations.

Activity 6

Supply of Integrated System for Ships Inspection - electronic database software package and equipment

- ☐ One of the key activities of the DANrISS Project
- ☐ Provides technical and organizational pilot support for optimum and harmonized performance of the day-to-day tasks in the field of ships inspection in the common Bulgarian - Romanian waterways

Under Activity 6 both EAMA and RNA were supplied with:

- ✓ Software product: electronic database software package for the Integrated System for Ships Inspection;
- ✓ Hardware equipment: Centralized server infrastructure, Local servers; Videoconferencing systems, Office equipment.

Activity 6 was successfully implemented by EAMA and RNA

- ✓ The Integrated System was successfully delivered and configured;
- ✓ Key users within the two Partners were trained;
- ✓ All provisions of the contracts were met;
- ✓ All requirements of the INTERREG V-A Programme were observed.

The system is now fully functional and information from ships inspections is being entered upon every inspection.

Activity 7

Development of risk assessment methodology for river supervision inspections

- The developed methodology provides methods for calculation of risk mitigation in order to limit the number of hazardous situations.
- The prepared document is based on performed research on previous accidents on the Danube river and tracks the causal chain "risk of occurrence of navigational accidents" as method for identification, prevention and control of the risk of occurrence of possible accidents.
- The Methodology is complemented with features that justify the medium and long term strategic level of RIS for the formation of decisions to perform secure and efficient voyages.
- The Methodology is incorporated in the Integrated System for Ships Inspection and serves for identification of the risk profile of the inspected ships.

Expected impact

- ❑ The DANrISS Project, which is now in its final phase of implementation, is expected to:
 - ✓ Further reinforce the efficiency of the performed by both institutions tasks, regarding the control and monitoring of the navigation; and
 - ✓ To optimize the existing and create new mechanisms for joint cross-border solutions.
- ❑ The successful implementation of the project will reduce the administrative burden for both business and public sector and will save financial resources, time and work force.
- ❑ Furthermore, the results achieved will have a long term impact at local and regional level, affecting social, economic and environmental issues.
- ❑ In terms of the objectives set, the DANrISS Project is considered a pilot project, as the results from its implementation will introduce a new effective model of cooperation between the Danube countries in the field of the river supervision.
